PENSACOLA, APRIL 2, 1900

PRECINCT DELEGATES

The Mays Democratic Club of Pensacola has endorsed the following ticket for delegates from the city precincts to the Democratic County Convention to be held at Poylton, April 14 and ask that they be given a hearty support by the voters:

Precinct 12—J. H. Gingles, David Sherman, Wm. Bazzell, J. D. Maxwell, and T. F. Wright.

Precinct 13—W. A. Flood, Thos. Hannah, John Christie, J. Geo. White and W. T. Luman.

Precinct 14—Geo. Brown, Jos. I. Johnson, J. B. McLaughlin, John Pfeiffer and J. E. Barry.

Precinct 15—E. H. Putnam, John West, Wm. Bennett, J. E. Abercrombie and W. A. Putnam.

Two new candidates for state offices have recently been "mentioned." Hon. L. J. Reeves of Walton and Hon. S. M. Robertson of Washington, the former for justice of the supreme court, to succeed Mr. Justice Carter of Jackson, and the latter to succeed Commissioner of Agriculture Wombwell, also of Jackson county.

THE New Orleans Picayune thus refers to the charge made by State Health Officer Porter that the Marine Hospital service regulations are not to be depended upon to keep yellow fever out of the United States:

"This is a serious charge, and one that cannot be lightly passed over. Louisiana does not trust to any quarantine service, but maintains its own, including medical inspectors at various Central American ports. But other states, Florida having been one of them, trusted to the United States Marine Hospital quarantine service, and Florida has reached a determination not to do so in future. New Orleans is interested, because it has direct and intimate connection with the ports of such states as rely on the Marine Hospital service, and if there is any deficiency in it, New Orleans must suffer with the rest."

The fact that yellow fever was introduced through Florida ports and through New York, being carried thence to the United States Soldiers' Home, at Hampton, should give warning that something is wrong somewhere. The Louisiana state board of health cannot afford to ignore these warnings.

The average Florida legislature—in view of its legislative blunders, periodical foolishness and general inertia upon important questions—has not commanded the highest respect. The people of Polk county should see to it that the county is ably represented in the next legislature. Men of ability, who have successfully managed their own affairs, and whose intellectual attainments and social position will command respect should be chosen. We have such men and in the public interest and for the general welfare the people should rise above prejudice and select the best regardless of vocation or profession.—Bartow Courier-Intelligencer.

A distinguished and thoughtful Floridian once truly remarked that the members of a legislature should be, and generally are, regarded as strictly representative of the people who elect them; and that constitutions are usually judged, as to their intelligence and character, by their representatives. This being true, no greater error can be made than for an intelligent and reputable community to choose men to represent them in any lawmaking body who are below the average in these respects.

Democracy in the Platform.

The fact that the position so promptly assumed by THE NEWS in its comments upon the Nebraska platform, to the effect that there exists little ground for the fear that it will be adopted at the Kansas City convention, has been so widely and intelligently supported by many of the leading journals of the country, is most gratifying. And the contention of this paper that criticism of the Nebraska platform does not necessarily mean opposition to Mr. Bryan, is also supported by many expressions of similar import from high sources.

The Savannah Morning News says:

It contains things which many eastern democrats, and in fact many western democrats, feel they cannot indorse. It must be admitted that the tone of its populistic is a mixed degree. It has been pointed out, however, that the democratic national platform will not necessarily contain everything found in the Nebraska platform. There were local reasons why so much populism was put in the Nebraska declarations. It is hardly probable that the populists will insist upon so much populism in the democratic national platform as a condition on which they will support the democratic national ticket. It would be folly for them to do so. A national platform on the lines of the Nebraska platform would cause the democratic ticket a loss of thousands of voters in every one of the states.

As the political situation now presents itself the democrats have an excellent chance for getting control of the government at the election this year. They must, not, however, conduct the campaign along the lines laid down in 1896. There are new and stronger issues than those of that year. And material conditions are vastly different. It is harder to make the people think a change of government is necessary when there is a demand for labor and money is abundant, as is the case now, than when employment cannot be had and money is in hiding, as was the case in 1896.

There is going to be a great deal more said about opposition to the nomination of Mr. Bryan, but it is not going to amount to anything, unless a strong candidate in opposition is brought out.

The Birmingham News says:

The democracy, of all times, cannot win on a populist platform in 1900. It polled the high water mark of strength on such a platform in 1896, when conditions were most propitious for success on a set of declarations of that character. And it was defeated then. This year with the country highly prosperous, free silver dead and live issues like expansion pressing to the front, the party that ties itself to populist ideas is going to be overwhelmingly repudiated.

The Macon Telegraph says:

Undoubtedly a lot of gratuitous and destructive ammunition has been unloaded in the camp of the democrats by the blind republican leaders. It remains to be seen whether the former will wisely substitute it in great part for some of the powder and rusty firearms that were flooded in 1896 and can never again be made to carry a bullet. It is greatly to be feared, however, that the most useless and hopelessly rusted piece in the whole battery is again to be dragged out and placed in its former leading position. We refer of course to the old piece of heavy ordnance labeled "16 to 1," which has long since been spiked and is now good for nothing but to waste powder, make a deafening noise, raise dust and drop spent ball about a hundred feet from the starting point.

The Atlanta Journal says:

As everybody knows, it was the currency question which caused the democratic divisions in 1896. The currency question was then uppermost in the minds of the people. It is not so now. There are other issues which are considered far more pressing and which involve in a larger measure the welfare of the country.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is still in the lead. The people seem to like this old reliable cough medicine, and we don't blame them; it is the best remedy for a deep-seated cough or cold, and will effect a cure in one day.

We may live without love, we may live without books, but a civilized man cannot live without cooks.

—Owen Meredith.

And our cooks cannot cook without the materials necessary to constitute meals. Those materials, in order to produce good, wholesome food, must be of the best quality. To procure them of the desired quality we must go to the right place for them. The right place, as every one familiar with the subject will tell you, is Jacoby's.

What he hasn't got in the way of first-class, high-grade materials for good, wholesome, delicious food—"fit for the gods" themselves—you might put in a wheelbarrow. What he has got can scarcely be learned without visiting that wonderful place, where he keeps enough of everything good to eat to victual a warship or supply an army, and inspecting the enormous variety of household supplies of every imaginable description, displayed so that every purchaser can select at will, and all of the choicest and best to be found in any market.

This is no flight of fancy, but the plain, unvarnished truth. If you doubt it, go to 114 to 120 East Government street and be convinced.

Hannah Bros. are agents for DeWitt's Cough Cure, Diarrhea Remedy and Witch Hazel Salve. They guarantee all three of these preparations and will cheerfully refund the money to any one who uses them without being benefited. Price 25 cents each.
